Licensing

The BI Suite is licensed mostly under St. IGNUcious' (the patron saint of the Free Software Foundation and originator of the GNU Project) preferred license: the GNU General Public License, meaning it is mostly free (as in rights, not price) and open source software. This means that you are a good, moral person for using the Pentaho BI Suite.

Download The Software

Navigate to http://www.pentaho.com/products/try_bi_suite.php and choose your platform - Windows or Linux.

WARNING: Linux is hard! Choose Windows instead.

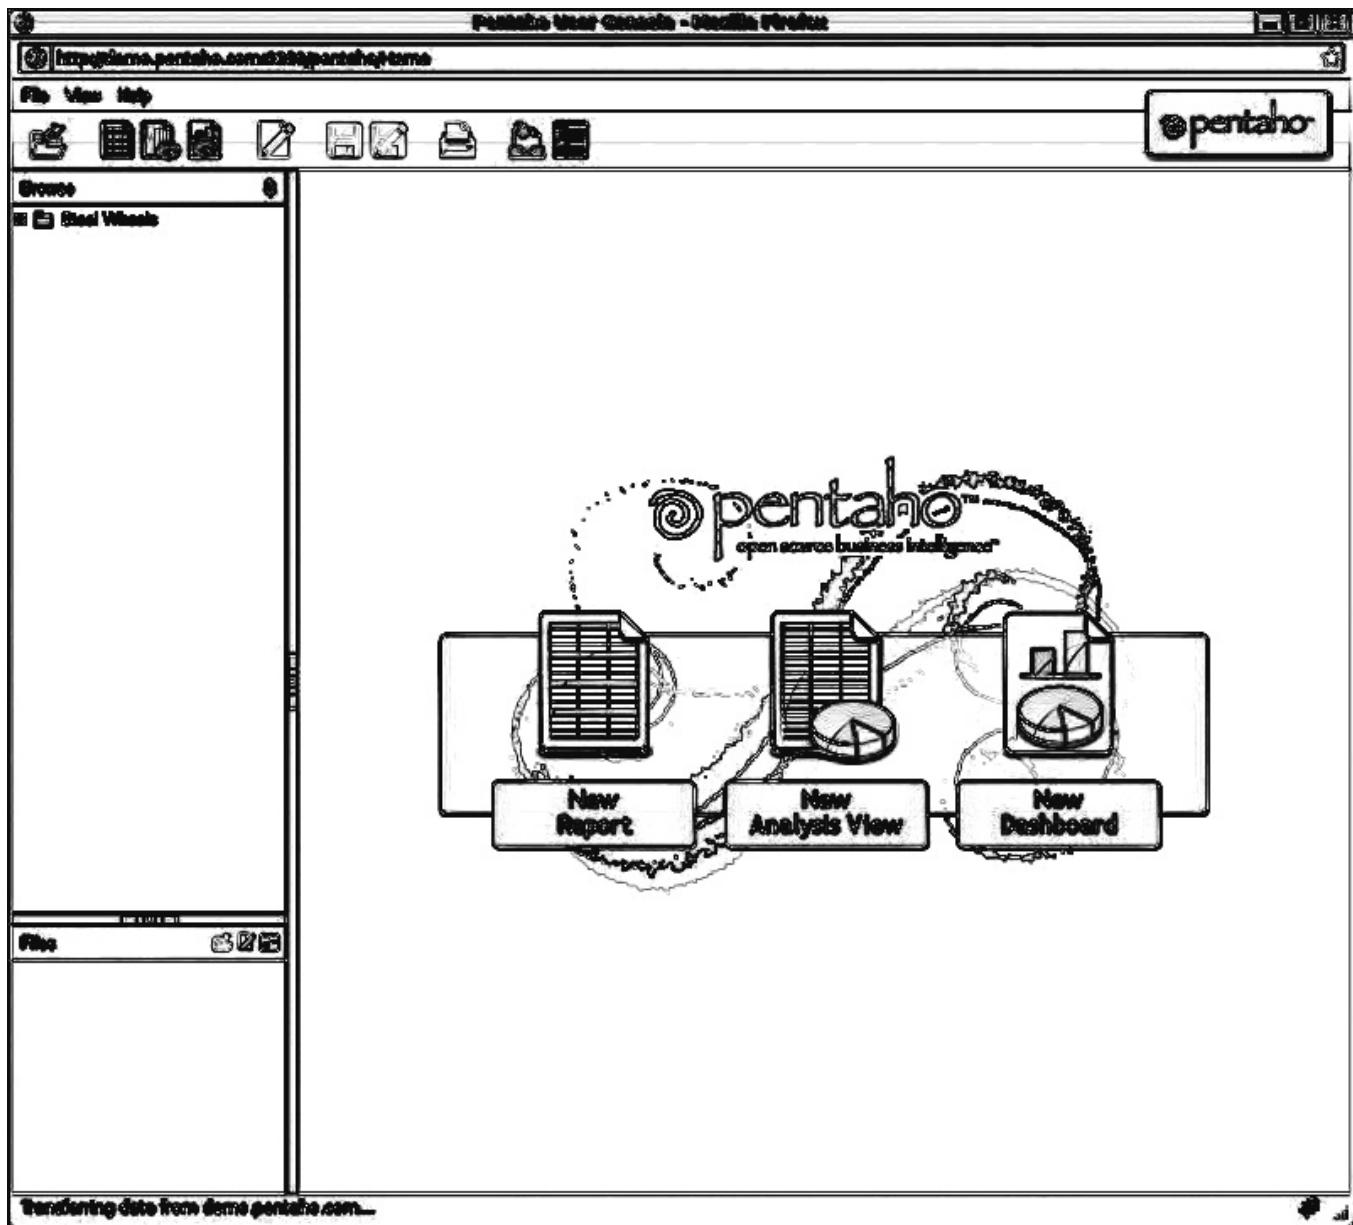

Running the Installation Utility

Click Forward a lot. Agree to the license. When confronted with choosing a password, type one in. If passwords are new and scary to you, consult your company's IT staff for assistance.

WARNING: IT staff may be in the break room shoveling garbage into the refrigerator.

Viewing the Samples

Once the Pentaho User Console appears, log in with the username Joe and the password password. Once in the Pentaho User Console, go to the View menu, then select Browser. (Contact your IT staff again if you have trouble with these instructions.) In the left pane, click the + next to Steel Wheels, then click the Reporting folder. Double-click on each item in the lower left pane to view the sample reports. To avoid serious injury, do not attempt to contain your amazement.

Support

Having trouble installing the BI Suite or using the samples? Contact your Pentaho sales or support representative. You DID buy support, right? If not, please leave comments on the Pentaho Community Wiki, and Jem will delete them after a few days. If the samples failed to sufficiently amaze you, please complain to Pentaho pre-sales support specialist Mike Tarallo (<http://michaeltarallo.blogspot.com/>).

Write a Check to Pentaho

Now that you have seen the power of the Pentaho BI Suite, it is time to pay for it. Write the largest check you are authorized to sign off on, payable to Pentaho Corporation, and send it via Federal Express overnight (the by 10 AM service, not the by 3 PM service) to 5950 Hazeltine National Dr. Suite 350 Orlando, FL 32822.

Share Your Work

If you're particularly proud of any of your coloring skills in this book, why not share them with Doug Moran at the Pentaho Community Connection? Email your scanned coloring work to CommunityConnection@pentaho.org and Doug will put it on his refrigerator.
